

SUPPORT REPORT

This fall, USC celebrated a number of landmark groundbreakings and gift announcements. Last month's mailing focused on Glorya Kaufman's milestone gift, which will create and endow the USC Glorya Kaufman School of Dance and construct the Glorya Kaufman International Dance Center at USC. Here are a few additional gifts that the USC community warmly applauded in recent weeks.

Jill and Frank Fertitta

With their exceptionally generous gift, Trojan parents and longtime USC supporters Jill and Frank Fertitta '84 named an undergraduate instructional building and established the USC Jill and Frank Fertitta Endowed Chair in Business at the USC Marshall School of Business. Jill and Frank Fertitta Hall will transform the educational environment at the school. The building's groundbreaking will take place in May 2014.

David Dollinger

David Dollinger provided a $10 million gift to endow the newly named Dollinger Master of Real Estate Development Program at the USC Price School of Public Policy. Mr. Dollinger received his Master of Real Estate Development degree from USC in 1987, making him an alumnus of the program's inaugural graduating class. With this milestone gift, he has achieved another USC first by becoming the first USC Price School alumnus to endow a degree program.

Leonard D. Schaeffer

Leading health policy expert and USC Judge Robert Maclay Widney Professor Leonard D. Schaeffer committed $25 million to endow and support the USC Leonard D. Schaeffer Center for Health Policy and Economics. Established in 2009, this dynamic center advances rigorous research in the area of health economics.

Wallis Annenberg

In November, USC commemorated the groundbreaking for Wallis Annenberg Hall. This state-of-the-art building for the USC Annenberg School for Communication and Journalism will ensure that the university remains at the fore of digital media communication and education. Wallis Annenberg is USC's longest-serving trustee.

Fred Uytensu

Wilfred "Fred" Uytensu '83 committed an $8 million gift to USC Athletics — the largest ever given to the department by a former student-athlete. This historic contribution will provide a new home for USC's men's and women's swimming, diving, and water polo teams. The university celebrated the groundbreaking for the Uytensu Aquatics Center and Peter Daland Pool this fall.

Verna Dauterive

USC broke ground on Verna and Peter Dauterive Hall, the university's first interdisciplinary social sciences building. This visionary structure was made possible by a $30 million gift from USC trustee Verna B. Dauterive M.E. '49, Ed.D. '66, made in memory of her late husband, Peter W. Dauterive '49. The two met as students in Doheny Memorial Library.
